

mama calls me Miss Pert for it," confessed Weedlepipes.

"That makes a fine little title for your story. You can tell us tomorrow how Miss Pert became Miss Ex-Pert."

WEATHER CALENDAR FOR THE CHILDREN

Thirty days hath September,
April, June and November;
All the rest have thirty-one;
February twenty-eight alone,
Except in leap-year, at which time
February's days are twenty-nine.

Probably you have already taught your children this odd rhyme. In case some one has forgotten to do so here is the rhyme to remind you. It is the best sort of help to children in remembering the days of the month.

A good way to call their attention to the succession of months through the year, and to the weather common in each, is a calendar like the one illustrated. This was made by children.

The picture at the top of the card suggests something typical of the month. The colored circles pasted on each day indicate the weather, and are gray, cloudy; black, rainy; white, snowy; yellow, sunshiney; part yellow and gray, a day of rain and sunshine.

The holidays have a small red circle in the center of the larger one.

The children painted the pictures, lettered the name of the month, cut out the colored circles, using a penny to draw around first, and pasted each day the appropriate weather sign.

An older person marked off the squares for the days and helped and advised with the rest of the work.

In helping your children make a similar calendar you will naturally follow their individual suggestions for subjects for the pictures, colors to indicate the weather and so forth.

SNOW!

Unsettled weather tonight and Saturday, with light showers, probably turning to snow flurries, is the forecast for Chicago and vicinity. Lowest temperature tonight is predicted for near freezing.

Five years from now, says New York fire commissioners, there won't be a fire engine horse in the city. Forward the gasoline gig!
